

“Salt Licks, Mill Seats, and Jack Daniel’s Surveys:
Using Land and Property Maps
to Further Your Genealogical Research”

Special Event! June 29, 2009, 1 p.m., Davis Senior Center, 646 A Street

Our speaker, Melinda Kashuba, is a free-lance writer and researcher. She teaches geography at Shasta College in Redding, California and is a popular lecturer and author of Walking with Your Ancestors: a Genealogist’s Guide to Using Maps and Geography, plus numerous articles in genealogical magazines and other publications.

This Special Presentation of the Davis Genealogy Club and Library is Co-Sponsored with the Genealogical Association of Sacramento, Root Cellar-Sacramento Genealogical Society, and the Solano County Genealogical Society.

Please mark your calendar and join us for this special cooperative presentation on June 29 at 1:00 p.m. Guests are welcome. Donations appreciated. To learn more about the Davis Genealogy Club, visit our website at www.davisgenealogy.org or call Lisa Henderson at 753-8943.
